There are many important reasons to purchase comprehensive personal, medical, travel, and trip cancellation insurance. Some common examples of what could go wrong are trip cancellations or delays, weather delays of commercial airlines or air charter flights, lost/delayed luggage, lost passport and/or wallet, medical treatment or evacuation from the field, family member becomes seriously ill or injured requiring you to return home, and many more. Having the appropriate insurance could possibly save you tens of thousands of dollars, should an unforeseen delay, accident, or illness happen.

Your baggage, firearms, and personal belongings are important assets when traveling to remote locations. No matter how good the planning or how precise the execution of a trip, there are many incidents of weather delays of commercial airlines and air charters as well as lost or delayed baggage. An insurance premium is a small price to pay for protecting your valuable property and trip.

There are many reputable travel insurance programs, including Global Rescue. Please consider insuring your next Alaska adventure.

Your safety is our first priority.

Best Regards,

Mike
